

Grant Hartley

CS 470

c) I think the graph is an accurate representation of how the grades would be given the gpa and act scores as cs155 is the first programming based classes a lot of students take so a spread of mostly C's and B's makes sense. What i find interesting is that the jump that correlates to scores and final grades; from act score 20 to 21 there was a significant jump in overall scores at that point.